Carruthers Drive, Sans Souci

View south

This month's street is a 'divider'. Cold, wet and expansive on one side; warm, dry and insular on the other. Or maybe that should be flat on one side and irregular on the other. Then add in the big sky and you have a subject of contrasts.

.... Carruthers Drive serves as a break-line between the sea and the land with a view to Brighton Le Sands and the Sydney skyline to the north; and to the south we see Towra Pt, an international wetland for migratory birds.

All along Carruthers Drive are 'people' running, jogging, cycling, lounging, photographing, and whatnot.

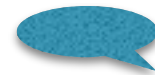

View north

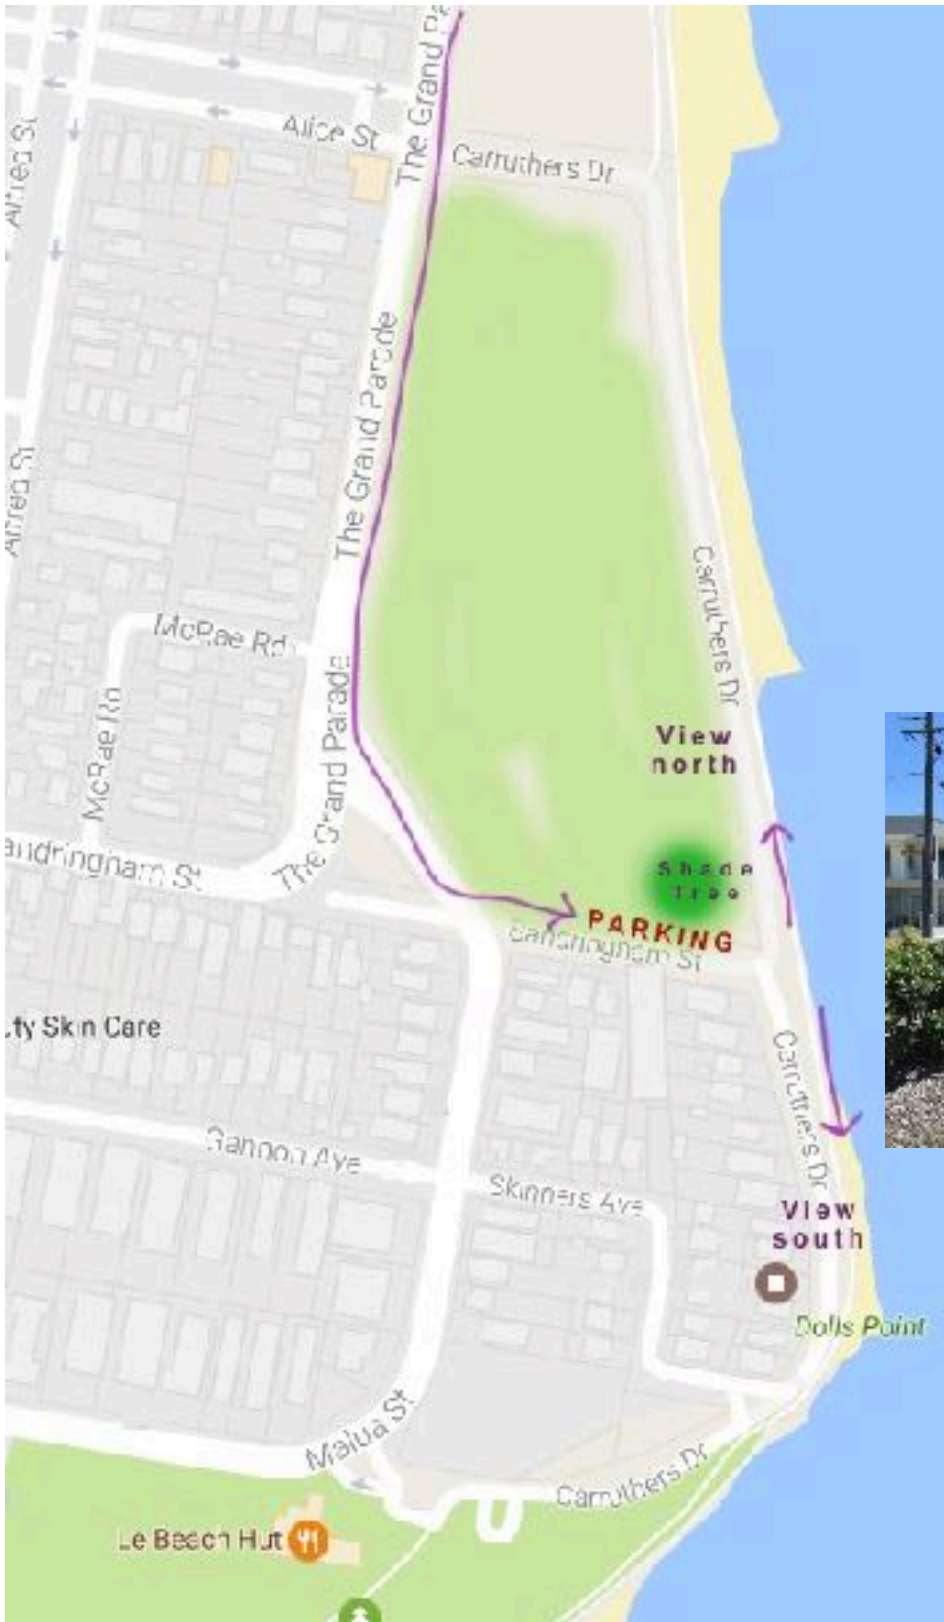

A view south, from under the shade tree next to the parking area.

FYI... newly renovated toilets are located nearby ...plus an interesting cafe across the road.

The gathering point for this month's location is at the far south end of Cook Park.

Turn left off the Grand Parade just before the big bend so you are on the bay end of Sandringham St.

There's lots of parking but go to the far end near the shade tree.

If you get lost, text me at 042 747 2237 and I will try to help. If you miss the turn off here from the Grand Parade you will have to take the next RH turn and a couple more to get back onto the Grand Pde.
